Unit Summary

What is the unit about?

Organisations must show that they act responsibly in relation to their staff, customers, investors and the communities in which they work. All types of organisations must obey the law in key areas such as health and safety, employment, finance and company law. Many organisations also have to work within specific regulations for their industry and ethical frameworks. Organisations who want to maintain a good reputation also have to take account of the views of people in their communities on a whole range of issues such as the environment and other ways in which the organisation effects people's quality of life.

Depending on your level of responsibility, 'organisation' may mean the whole organisation or business, or a unit within the organisation or business that you are responsible for.

Who is the unit for?

The unit is recommended for middle managers and senior managers.
